LITCHFIELD PARK, AZ (Gray News) - Zoo officials in Arizona say a woman who came near the fence to get a photo of herself was attacked (攻击) by a jaguar (美洲豹).

Fire officials said the woman, Sally, was trying to take a selfie Saturday night near the fence of the jaguar area at the Wildlife World Zoo in Litchfield Park, AZ.

As she was doing so, a jaguar reached out and attacked her arm.

Another visitor Adam Wilkerson said he and his family heard the woman crying for help and ran to the scene. There, he saw the woman’s arm caught by the jaguar’s claws (爪子).

Wilkerson’s mother managed to distract (分散……注意力) the jaguar by holding out her water bottle.

“When my mom put the water bottle through the gate, the jaguar let go of the girl. We pulled her back,” he said.

Sally was taken to the hospital. She is expected to be OK next week.

Wildlife World Zoo Director Mickey Ollson says the 4-to-5-year-old jaguar will not be killed because it “was not the animal’s fault.”

However, officials will be checking into whether more fences need to be put in place.

This is not the first time the female jaguar has hurt a zoo visitor. Ollson said about a year ago, it attacked another person who crossed the fence.
